Canadians aren't known for bluster, so when they call the Calgary Stampede "the greatest outdoor show on Earth," you know you're in for something special. The Calgary Stampede is a celebration of the region's western heritage, cultures and community spirit, and takes place over 10 days in July. The Stampede offers daily rodeos and evening shows featuring some of the world's best competitors, a midway and more—and you have tickets to the final three days, including Showdown Sunday.

The caliber of a rodeo comes down to the skill of the competitors and the quality of the horses, bulls and steers. Every afternoon, the world's best competitors face off in a furious display of skill and grit, with every win building towards Showdown Sunday. The evening shows are highlighted by the Chuckwagon Races, which have been at the heart of the Calgary Stampede since 1923. When the last wagon thunders over the finish line, the Bell Grandstand Show dazzles audiences with song and dance numbers, acrobatics, and a spectacular fireworks finale.

To go with this four-star entertainment, we've included four-star accommodations (checking in Friday, July 12 and checking out Monday, July 15) at the Hotel Arts, located in the heart of Calgary. It's a 15-minute walk to Calgary Tower and Stampede Park, less than a mile to Scotiabank Saddledome and 2.5 miles to the Calgary Zoo. The spacious rooms are beautifully designed including a balcony with either a city or pool view and all the amenities for a relaxing and comfortable stay. .

And, you'll have to eat! You'll dine at a Calgary favorite—award winning CHARCUT Roast House. Rated as "One of the Top Five Restaurants in Canada," the food here is best described as local chef-driven cuisine, with Italian accents.

Whether you're a greenhorn or an avid rodeo fan, take the bull by the horns and bid on this one-of-a-kind cowboy experience.
